General Info

Cosplay Guidelines

Cosplay or “costume play” is welcome at FanCon! We ask that attendees follow these guidelines:

- No realistic weapons. Prop weapons should be made of plastic or foam. No real weapons are allowed at FanCon (e.g. swords).
- Cosplay is not consent. If you would like to take a picture with or of a presenter or FanCon attendee, always ask first and respect that person’s right to say no. Please report any issues to the Command Center on the first floor.

Tips for the Day

Whether this is your first or 100th convention, here are some tips to help you navigate FanCon:

1. Be prepared to chat. Don’t be shy! Talk to artists in the Hendrickson Room about their craft, ask presenters questions at their sessions and speak with cosplayers about their costumes.
2. #AHMLFanCon is the best way to share your FanCon experience. What did you see? Who did you hear from? What did you learn? The world wants to know!

Questions? Ask a staff member in a red FanCon T-shirt if you have questions. You can also always report to the Command Center on the first floor.

Special Guests

Andrew Trygstad

A longtime fan of all things Star Wars, Andrew has made it a life's passion to learn how to teach and fight with weapons safely and effectively for the stage. He recently earned his Bachelor's degree from Columbia College Chicago, where he studied stage combat extensively.

Anthony Mele

Spending over 20 years on the stage, and even more with a video game controller in his hand, Anthony is a big ol' nerd. Literally. You'll find him easily by looking up; he's 6'5".

Dalek Asylum Milwaukee

Dalek Asylum Milwaukee are the United States' oldest and largest cooperative building club, having assembled double digits of Daleks in the last few years. Dalek Asylum Milwaukee calls the Milwaukee Makerspace home.

Grace Baird

Grace is a cosplayer and performer from Arlington Heights. She attended Buffalo Grove High School and got her B.A. in Musical Theatre at Columbia College Chicago. You may have seen her as a performer at Six Flags Great America in one of their many shows over the years. Other talents include voice over, artistic mermaid swimming and circus arts. She loves to attend comic and anime conventions, cosplaying as her favorite characters in her handmade costumes.

Jesse White Tumblers

The Jesse White Tumblers were created in 1959 to provide a positive alternative for inner-city kids. The team, with seven units, gives more than 1,500 performances each year at major sporting events and community, business and charity functions. The Jesse White Tumblers attract national and international attention and have performed throughout the United States, Canada, Hong Kong, Bermuda, Belize, China, Israel, Japan and Croatia. The team has also been featured in commercials, national television shows and motion pictures.

Joe Tinaglia and Gina Venable

Joe The Tinman is a multimedia artist known for his cosplay, comic books and movie making. He studied illustration and fashion at the Art Institute of Chicago before becoming an art teacher at Northeastern Illinois University. He has spent the last 20 years publishing books and the last decade running cosplay clubs that travel the world.

Gina is an artist known for her hundreds of self-made imaginative cosplays. Along with her two sons, she loves learning about new fandoms and games. She has spent the last five years performing for charity organizations to spread love, healing and education through her performance art.

Madysen Frances

Madysen is a Chicago-based performer who has a passion for bringing characters and stories to life. She has worked as a princess performer for over five years and says it still feels magical every time. She has worked at Walt Disney World in entertainment as well as on TV, appearing in Disney Channel's Saturdays. When Madysen isn't performing, she enjoys baking, doing pilates and connecting with nature.

Olivia Miller

A passionate art educator, Olivia taught kindergarten through eighth grade at Chicago Public Schools before working in libraries. Her love of the arts transferred to her role in her library's Youth Services making signs, facilitating programs and now as a special guest here at FanCon. Figure drawing is one of her specialties and she uses this love to help inspire fellow artists to document their personal one-of-a-kind stories into their own Spidersona drawings.

Rae and Ria Cosplay

Rae and Ria Cosplay is a mother daughter cosplay duo that have been cosplaying together since Ria was a baby. Their motto is "Anyone can cosplay" and they love helping people learn how. They even have cosplay cats. Rae is a former Walt Disney World performer, and currently works as a nurse, and Ria is in high school. They both enjoy doing community service as part of several costume charity groups. Ria is also an artist and the duo loves to travel to comic conventions, meeting fans and doing panels.

Rebecca LaFlure

Rebecca is a mother, professional investigator and chalk artist in Chicago. During the midst of the pandemic, she unexpectedly discovered a passion for chalk art and began creating colorful drawings at parks, bus stops, libraries and other places in the city. Rebecca and her work have been featured by numerous media outlets, including on the front page of the Chicago Sun-Times.

Rough Magic Games

In 2019, Rough Magic was founded with one mission: to help those who wanted to play tabletop role-playing games but lacked the time to take on the role of a Game Master. Today, Rough Magic runs regular in-person/online events all over Chicagoland and beyond. Rough Magic's team loves nothing more than guiding diverse players with varying areas of experience to collaboratively create thrilling adventures and forge unique bonds of friendship that will last for a lifetime.

Ty Stutsman

Ty began training in Tai Chi (Ki Gong) in 2009 while living in Shenyang, China. Currently he trains at Still Water Martial Arts, who offer Tai Chi classes through the World Ki Gong Club. His favorite set is the Five Animal Frolic. Ty brings a great energy to every class as he seeks to share the benefits of breathing, stretching and imagination with kids in both a modern and traditional way.

venoSci venoSci (pronounced Vee-Noh-Sigh) is a musician, DJ, organizer and designer from Chicago. For much of his decade plus career, venoSci has explored the sonic possibilities of classic video game consoles, pushing their limited sound capabilities to their breaking point and utilizing them to fill dance floors all over the Midwest and the world. In recent years, his explorations have expanded into the world of synthesizers and drum machines, exploring machines that were once cutting edge, but now relish in their dated workflow and sounds. He is the organizer for Heavensware, a showcase of the finest in hardware-only music, as well as a number of other events around the Windy City.

Wings and Talons

Wings and Talons is a nonprofit organization dedicated to working with birds of prey as ambassadors at educational programs to promote conservation. Through their engaging presentations with live raptors, the organization inspires a commitment to protecting and preserving the natural world.

Artists' Alley

Be sure to drop by the Hendrickson Room on the second floor to meet these artists and exhibitors.

13th Moon Craft

Nikolaj of 13th Moon Craft is a Chicago-based artist, writer and librarian who is a member of the Romeoville Art Society. They love any craft that involves upcycling, thrifting and odds and ends, and they dabble in a little bit of everything.

Alex Flis

Alex is a full-time art reviewer and an illustrator in her spare time. Her illustration styles are as varied as her interests. She's done digital and traditional art and loves painting realism as much as she loves creating simple stylized illustrations.

Ashley Esper

Ashley is an illustrator, indie comic artist and graphic designer. She is the creator of the comic series Ralphs, following a pair of lovable pups in their everyday hijinks. Her work is inspired by animation/classic cartoons, pop culture and other general silliness.

Comix Revolution

Comix Revolution has proudly served the Arlington Heights community since 1996. Located in Mount Prospect, the store carries a wide selection of comics and graphic novels from DC, Marvel, Image and Dark Horse to a variety of independent publishers.

CSPL Studio 1

CSPL Studio 1, owned by POC artist Artie McFly, takes joy in creating and selling comic illustration prints and stickers that offer a refreshing twist on representation.

Don Cardenas

Don is the artist/co-creator of the vampires-meets-metal comic Evie and the Helsings, artist of the horror series Spend the Night written by cult horror director Jackie Kong, and is the host of the Comics-Coffee-Metal podcast.

Fat Cat Stickers

Fat Cat Stickers brings fun, creative designs for those who have a love of pop culture, feminism and cats.

Emily Kardamis

Emily is a Chicago-based artist and merry prankster. Her primary works, Steamed Veggies and About, are autobiographical comics that frequently discuss the nuances of life and mental health. She recently collaborated with Kevin Sciretta on a comic series for the podcast Hello from the Magic Tavern, The Lost Adventures of Dripfang, available on the Magic Tavern Patreon.

George Gant

George is a Ringo Award-nominated and Glyph Comics Award-winning cartoonist and illustrator. He is the creator of the King Features-syndicated comic strip Beware of Toddler and the artist for the Beano comic strip Angel Face Investigates.

Greg Schmidt

With a keen eye for detail and a passion for all things geeky, Greg's illustrations bring iconic characters and scenes from fandoms to life in a fresh and engaging way and his illustrations are sure to delight and inspire.

Max Bare

Max is a Chicago-based cartoonist and illustrator. He is the creator of Hero Beards, the self-published middle grade comic featuring super heroes with super beards. Max collaborates with his wife Melissa Sue Stanley on illustration for packaging and comics as marketing for brands like Revolution Brewing.

Raz Ortiz

A Chicago-based illustrator raised by cartoons, music and an incredible need to draw silly things. Concentrates on turning the cute in an illustration up to the maximum degree with small prints, big prints and enamel pins.

Saboona Soap

Lojain Ottman crafts soaps from her heart for your hands! Her favorite fandoms are the inspirations behind her creations. With natural ingredients like olive oil and goat milk, it is safe for any fan of any fandom to use.

SquidneyDoodles

SquidneyDoodles is a Chicago-based concept artist who is passionate about creating her own characters and telling stories through her art. She loves all things fantasy and art that has striking color palettes. SquidneyDoodles is the featured artist on this year's FanCon badges.

Steph Stanga

Steph is an illustrator who currently dwells in Chicago. She graduated with a B.F.A. in Media Arts and Animation and has since been traveling the Midwest showing her work at various art shows or comic cons. Steph is inspired by nature, animals, animated movies and the fantasy genre overall.

SunnySide Art

SunnySide Art is a Chicago-based illustrator and graphic artist who likes to spend much of her time with felines and foods. She grew up watching anime and reading manga, which has majorly influenced her style of art.

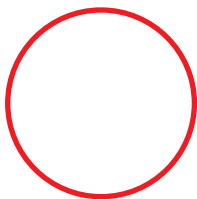

Very Powerful Dice

Very Powerful Dice creates handmade resin dice for games like Dungeons & Dragons, Pathfinder, Call of Cthulhu, Yahtzee, Bunco, and more. They even create necklaces and earrings from dice for the perfect nerdy accessories.
